Forrestal Would Develop Every Service Branch

Strongly Opposes Proposed Merger Of All Armed Forces Of United States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal proposed to Congress today that the nation "develop to the fullest extent the capacity of each branch of our military services."

Forrestal, opposing the proposed merger of the armed forces, compared a Navy plan for national security with the Army proposal for unification of the armed forces.

He told the Senate Military committee that the Navy plan provides for coordination of "our foreign and our military policy" and "therefore, for the greatest potential economy."

"The Army plan does not," Forrestal declared.

"We must, in the future develop to the fullest extent the capacity of each branch of our military services because we must be adequately prepared to fight a war of whatever character the future may bring."

The Navy plan, he added, proposes the continuation of separate military departments.

"The Navy sponsors this proposal," he added, "for two reasons: first the unification of the military forces is neither necessary nor helpful to the solution of the major problems facing us; second, unification of the military departments would be detrimental to the accomplishment of several important objectives."

The local Junior Red Cross is filling ten large gift stockings, and the chapter itself is buying individual gifts for service personnel and Christmas tree trimmings.

DEPARTURE DELAY FOR GEN. MARSHALL CAUSES CONCERN

call Marshall back to work a few hours after he had retired from the army. It controlled the urgent pleading with the then ambassador to China, Patrick J. Hurley, to return to his post instead of resigning.

Behind Concern

This is what lies behind the concern over Marshall.

At the moment, the United States is committed to withdrawing its marines from China the moment the last defeated Jap, of which there are 300,000 in North China, and another 300,000 Jap civilians, have been repatriated.

Russia is also committed to turn over all area she occupies in Manchuria to the Nationalist forces of Chiang Kai-Shek as soon as they can take over. Russia is complying with this commitment.

When these commitments are carried out, the field will be open to the Communist and Nationalist factions to get into bare-knuckled civil war. Only by the use of good offices to bring the two factions together and unify China along broad political lines before evacuation can be done.

MAY CONSTRUCT NEW ROUTE 422 DURING YEAR

It is understood the county has offered to bear $15,000 worth of the damages.

Will Follow New Route

The new highway will lead off at the state line curve west of New Bedford and go through a number of farms, across Coffee Run and come into New Castle by way of the old Sharon street car line right of way and Sampson street. It is indicated.

The highway to be constructed will be 10.18 miles long and will be three lane highway, each lane being 11 feet wide. If the bids are advertised early in the new year it would probably mean the construction of the new piece of road early in the summer of 1946.

CONDELLA TELLS JURY STORY OF FATAL SHOOTING

from behind and grabbed him around the head and face and in the scuffle Condezza's glasses were knocked off onto the floor.

"I couldn't see," he said. "I couldn't even find the beer I had bought to take out and I said to the bartender I thought I would go home. He agreed with me and I started out. Before that, the bartender had put Swartzlager out of the bar."

"I stepped out of the door and couldn't make out very much of anything. Then Swartzlager grabbed me by the throat and said, 'You are going to kill me. He was choking me and I thought he would kill me. Then I pulled the gun and shot him once. He kept coming at me and I fired again. Somebody took my gun and I went on home."

When I got home to my daughter's place, Josephine said the police were looking for me and I said I was ready to go with them any time. At that time I did not know Swartzlager was dead."

Cross Examination

Upon cross examination Condezza said he carried a gun because he was afraid of being harmed. Asked by District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson why he didn't carry a gun to work he said it was in the daylight and he thought he didn't need it.

The Commonwealth closed its case at 4:10 Wednesday afternoon. Police Chief Clark H. Rice of Ellwood City was the last Commonwealth witness to be heard.

He testified to getting the call the night of the shooting and of arresting Condezza in the home of his daughter.

Among the witnesses called by the Commonwealth to testify to the argument in the bar room were John Brophy, Charles Lumley, William Locke, Zach Zello, McCartney Shaffer and John A. Francis. John Francis testified that he had heard Swartzlager say "I think I'll go over and lick him," referring to Condezza.

Defense counsel expected to finish the defense testimony sometime late this afternoon. If so, the case will be argued and the charge of Judge John L. Moore given to the jury sometime Friday.

STEEL BLEACHERS FOR STADIUM ARE BEING CONSIDERED

In the steel structure idea and before next football season, rolls around it would not be surprising if new seating would be up.

The board committed itself to separate coaches for such sports as football, basketball and track, on Wednesday night. This idea has been under discussion for some time and will probably see some definite action soon.

Discus Contract

The contract of Phil H. Brudenbaugh, head coach at senior high school, expires this term and was up for discussion. After some discussion as to what it would mean to have a separate basketball and track coach, Director Howard L. Reynolds moved that Mr. Brudenbaugh's contract be renewed for one year as football coach only, and that the salary be set at $1500 for that coaching as opposed to the $6000 previously paid for services as head coach. The motion was seconded by Daniel B. Woolcock. A number of the board felt it would be better to have Mr. Brudenbaugh sit with the board and work out some plans in the matter and the motion was defeated. It will be discussed at a future meeting when Mr. Brudenbaugh will be present.

Clare B. Bask, principal of the senior high school, was present early in the evening and discussed in an informal manner with the board the possibilities of separate coaches for different sports. The idea of steel seating for the stadium and other matters.

DELAY IN FORWARDING JAP WARNING MESSAGE

"I did not wish to disturb the usual recipients who were probably gone to sleep as I did not see the implications of immediate hostilities."

Disemberry explained that he waited for all 14 parts of the message to come in via the army's "magic" intercept system so that he could go home and sleep.

Marshall recalled before the committee for further questioning on previously "top secret" details of the 1941 events, has testified that he believed he was at home at nearby Fort Myer, Va., the night of Dec. 6.

No part of the Japanese diplomatic message was delivered to him that night, he and other witnesses asserted.

Deficit Spending

With all the talk about inflation which is going the rounds the country over, very little attention is being paid to the greatest danger of the economy which we would all like to avoid. This lack of attention is especially apparent at Washington, where, above all places, it should be avoided.

While there is talk about wage ceilings and price ceilings to hold the line, little is being said about the danger of continued deficit spending.

Apparently there has been no change in the policy of deficit spending which has been carried on at Washington since the beginning of the New Deal. In fact, plans now put forward at Washington call for about twice as much deficit spending as was carried on in the early days of the Roosevelt era. Yet deficit spending means greater and greater national debt, more purchasing of government securities by the banks and more and more money in circulation. Here we are building the real foundation of ruinous inflation.

In a recent meeting of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, Senator Felt declared that continuation of deficit spending furnished the greatest economic danger to the country. He added: "We hear of balanced economy, but it impresses the student of government at Washington that there is no plan. No one in the government seems to have the faintest idea of what the budget will amount to or what kind of a tax system is necessary to meet it. The President has recklessly endorsed almost every project for Federal spending which anyone has proposed."

It may be said in way of reply that Senator Felt is a Republican and would be expected to take a critical view of the administration spending policy. But previous criticism and suggestion along this line came from a distinguished Democrat, now in the public service—Bernard Baruch. Some time ago Mr. Baruch suggested that before we decided what we could do to help the world and ourselves we ought to "take an inventory to see just what resources we have and how far we can safely go in a spending program."

Country Doctors Needed

An alarming scarcity of physicians in rural areas throughout the nation is reported by the American Medical Association. As a result, it urges "the reluctance of young physicians to seek vocations in the smaller communities, at a distance from hospital facilities, as well as the advanced age of those physicians now so located."

In North Dakota three entire counties have no physicians at all according to the report, and in many other parts there is a "corresponding lack of hospital and public health facilities." That situation probably has many parallels.

People in the country are so much on their own resources that they manage to get along in cases that would involve hardship for persons in the city. But the emergency need of a doctor is not one that can be met with self-help in rural areas. In fact, it is likely to entail more anxiety in the country where factors of time and distance add to the traditional rural hazard.

With the passing of time, the old-fashioned country doctor has become a disappearing, even legendary figure in many rural areas. This is unfortunate on his own account, for a more capable and willing type of public servant never existed.

The war has complicated the situation in the country as well as in the city. In this connection, it is gratifying to note that the War department is releasing 15,000 doctors and 5,000 dentists from the service under a reduced discharge score. Doubtless these releases gradually will be increased to bring relief to communities everywhere, and rural areas may benefit. Whatever the trend to specialization, it still may appeal to a new crop of young physicians to look into the extraordinary professional openings in the country.

To be assured of a good medical practice as soon as he cares to leave the hospital is an opportunity that would have seemed like a dream to the average young doctor starting out a few years ago.

Our Vital Power

High point of Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King's final report on the part played by the Navy in the war is his insistence that defeat of Japan was "directly" due to America's overwhelming sea power.

In many important respects Admiral King's thesis may be accepted. But this should not be regarded as any part of a "who-won-the-war" debate of the last word on service commendation plans.

It is inevitable that Admiral King would sound further arguments on that question in his report. Beyond that, however, it is of the utmost importance for the American people to realize the tremendous contribution to victory of our huge Navy, particularly in the Pacific struggle.

What it means—sea power adequate to meet all eventualities—must be maintained. Whether we have unification or not, our Navy must not again be weakened as it was after World War I by one-sided disarmament schemes or dangerous policies of mistaken economy.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt's daughter is learning to cook!

And that's the most sensational news to leak out of Park Avenue since somebody's butler loaded up on cognac and floated off a rooftop singing "Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the Sea."

It always has been society's privilege to have warts but never callouses and when the hell to several million skins additions a hot stove it is self-evident that something is cooking. And it looks like capitalism.

Murray and Green and Lewis can talk about maintaining labor pains but when the spokesman for labor feel. For the people who have been buttoned into their campers and had their eggs stirred for them from cradle to Mausoleum?

Bessie the biscuit maker turned up in a Manhattan project dapping atoms around. Ugh! the upstairs maid has an agent to talk with eager wretches who have no children, no family, no cooking, no cleaning and no home.

Sigrid the second girl now sits beneath her wartime "E" pendant adding the serial numbers of her bonds and dividing by 10 years. And meanwhile the cooking school clockworkmen pile up with cable slip-ons.

When a society matron these days says "my daughter is coming out," she means "Thursday night . . . if she gets her dishes done."

WASHINGTON CALLING

Too Much Berating Of Nation's Leaders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—As Secretary Byrnes sets out for Moscow, our hopes rise a little. This means another chance to come together on the questions that have created barriers of suspicion between London and Washington on one hand and Moscow on the other.

It's not an easy task nor a welcome one. No one would choose to leave home at the beginning of the holiday season to fly in cold and storm five thousand miles to a gloomy, war-torn capital.

Recently Byrnes has been subjected to the kind of going over that we generously accord our public office holders. Not only have rumors been printed that he wanted to resign but there have been editorial demands for his resignation.

Well, handled.

The Hurley tempest in a teapot took time and great deal of patience. Byrnes handled it with just the right mixture of tact and firmness. Shortly after he had initiated the coming conference of foreign ministers, President Truman made his offhand remark about no more Big Three meetings. This touched off a new uproar over State department policy and required a lot of explaining.

We spend so much time berating our public men and clamoring for an impossible perfection that it is not surprising that most people, being human, shy away from public office. That, it happens, is one of President Truman's real problems—to get men to do the necessary jobs.

"It's an awful thing," he told a visitor recently, "for the President of the United States to have to get up that telephone and plead with men."

Ten times the President was turned down in search of a chairman for the recent management-labor conference. Finally he "commanded" Judge Walter P. Slay of North Carolina to take the job.

Difficulties Galore

He had the same difficulty persuading Americans of stature to accept positions on the Anglo-American committee on Palestine. His selections as announced seem admirable. But it was a struggle getting them together.

Likewise selecting the fact-finding board in the General Motors strike has involved pleading and cajoling. Truman wanted to assemble a panel of top-notch men who would be available if negotiations broke down again.

One reason for the reluctance to take government jobs in the boom time is of course the matter of pay. Many men feel they served their government; apprenticeship during the war and now they want to get back into competition. A government job of $10,000 a year looks very small in comparison to some of the salaries being handed out in New York.

One thing is worth the time of first-rate men. President Truman proposed to pay members of fact-finding boards $100 a day in the labor arbitration law he recently sent to Congress. And it was pretty funny to hear John L. Lewis sneer at that rate as too high in light of the handsome salary and expenses the United Mine Workers provide so that John can live like one of the so-called big rich.

Aftermath Of Roosevelt Era

Money is not the only reason it's hard to find the right man for the right job. There was an intangible factor at work when Roosevelt was in the White House.

He seemed to be leading a crusade that was going somewhere. You might not like that crusade. You might hate it as millions did. But that, plus the magic of Roosevelt's personality, attracted loyal men and women who worked long and tirelessly for government affairs.

Many of these same loyal followers who were reviled as fascists and bureaucrats have now left the government. They are making in many instances, seven-eighths and nine-tenths as much as they made when they were on New Deal payroll.

President Truman is keenly aware of the recruiting problem he faces. He does not, however, know quite what to do about it. He has suggested an upward revision of government salaries but that in itself will not be enough.

Patience From All

A little patience from all of us would probably help a little. Less readiness to accuse, blame and a little more willingness to give out praise when it's called for.

Byrnes is beginning to reorganize the cumbersome, over-burdened machinery of the State department. He has brought in a group of young men out of Eisenhower's headquarters in Europe who are proceeding thoroughly and carefully to chart a new path.

In order to Moscow, he should be able to feel confident of support from back home. True he has made serious mistakes in the past. The lack of preparation for the London conference of foreign ministers was a bad blunder.

But Byrnes has shown throughout his career that he can profit by past mistakes. Good luck, Mr. Secretary, happy landings and a better world.

Did you ever drive a car off the top of a ten-story building? Did you ever drive a car at 60 miles an hour? Engineers have shown that a car driven at a speed of 60 miles an hour develops the same striking power that it would if it were driven from the top of a ten-story building.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:56. Sun rises tomorrow 6:54.

Be good and you will be lonesome.

Whether life is worth living depends upon the liver.

A suspicious person is one who counts his fingers after shaking hands with you.

SUCH FEELING

On the crowded street car we saw a man leaning back with his eyes closed.

"Poor tired chap," we said. "No doubt he has worked hard all day and is so exhausted he cannot wait to get home to sleep."

"Not so," said another fellow standing with us in the aisle. "It is because he is a very sensitive chap. It hurts him to see so many women standing."

A lot of people will believe there is no Santa Claus after Christmas.

A bore doesn't have sense enough to know he is one.

Yes, life can be tough for a kid and sometimes parents help it to be tough as when they scold or punish youngsters for some accident or minor thing that wasn't the child's fault or for which the child can't figure he was to blame. And it's often a child can get even, though now and then he can't.

For instance, there was the fellow who was scolding his boy for sitting on the floor.

"You're a pig!" the irate parent said. "Do you know what a pig is?"

"Yes, Papa," the boy replied. "A pig is a hog's little boy."

Nature ran put flesh on so fast as worry takes it off.

A fine comb can't deodorize if one of its teeth is missing.

Something like 51 per cent of the things done in public life are done wrong.

They had attended a social affair and his dancing was atrocious. He made a particularly bad impression on the wife of the boss when he took her on a bumpy tour of the floor.

"You really should take dancing lessons," his wife told him in the privacy of their own home later.

"There are lots of other ways I can make a fool of myself," he retorted.

"Of course," she agreed. "But you've tried all those."

We are born whether we like it or not and we die under the same conditions.

Then there was the dapper preacher who made a very bad mistake. He preached on "A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted," before he took up the collection.

Ask any woman who is crying. What's the matter? And she will probably reply "Oh, nothing at all."

We once asked an old woman who has raised 12 children whether she ever missed the youngsters who had grown up and flown away from the home nest.

"Yes, I do miss them and feel lonesome sometimes," she answered. "I miss them and I want them. But I miss them more than I want them."

Hez Heck says "Them as does nothin' are allus botherin' them as does something."

There is plenty of room at the top, but you must run your own elevator.

Justice Robt. Jackson Has Troubles Galore

WASHINGTON, 13. WITHOUT in the least disparaging the high character and great ability of Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief prosecutor of the German war criminals at Nuremberg, his present experience seems about to demonstrate against the wisdom of presidential detouring for assignment outside the Supreme Court sphere.

THIS IS NOT to say that Justice Jackson is not doing a good job because he is. It is to say that for a job which could be done adequately by other available men (for example, Gen. William J. Donovan, recently resigned as Mr. Jackson's aide, who had different views as to procedure but certainly equal ability to present), it is a pity to go to the Supreme Court for that does not advantage the detached justice of the court or the country.

AS FOR the first, it never seems to work out well. Certainly, few will contend that his Pearl Harbor assignment enhanced the reputation of former Justice Robert. And a strong argument can be made that while undoubtedly he would have missed a lot of travel and excitement in the long run Secretary of State Byrnes would have been better off had he stuck to the court—and is likely to wish he had. As to the second, loss in this way of one member adds to the burdens of the other members of the court, makes it more difficult for it to have a dependable, functioning quorum and detracts from its traditional dignity and aloofness. As to the country, no one will contend that the obviously increased probabilities of these 4-to-3 Supreme Court decisions, one of which was delivered a few days ago, as beneficial to the national interest.

IT CAN be taken for granted that Mr. Jackson, soon or late, will bring this trial to a successful conclusion, but it can be doubted that there will be general satisfaction. At the moment, there is criticism on several points. It is contended—perhaps unfairly—that we lean too far over in the effort to give these Nazi monsters no cause to complain that their "rights" are not observed. That they have too much license to give our interview and express their opinions; that the trials are too long drawn out; that our propaganda is not effective and the German people as a whole, unimpressed by the dramatic recital of the Nazi atrocities, the extraordinary demonstration of American fairness in the administration of justice.

IT IS contended that Mr. Jackson's conception of the prosecution is a grand one, but the statement is made that it is not fully appreciated by the people of this country, nor understood by the Germans and not admitted by our Allies. Thus, when it is all over, Mr. Jackson after months of hard work and strain may return to his seat on the Supreme Court, asking himself whether he should not have stayed there. He, of course, will have had a great experience, but in the end he may wonder whether, as they say on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, it was worth it.

ANOTHER factor that may enter into his reflections is the question of how far his dignity is impaired by the President's appointment of Mr. James B. Keenan as American prosecutor of the Japanese criminals. Mr. Keenan now in private Washington practice is about to leave for Tokyo taking with him a large legal staff. He is thus, on a par with Justice Jackson and that militates the idea that it is necessary to have a Supreme Court Justice in this war criminal business. The Keenan selection hardly can be regarded as a compliment to Justice Jackson. For Mr. Keenan is not a member of the Supreme Court but is not a lawyer of very great national reputation. An Assistant Attorney General, under Mr. Roosevelt, he did not attain unusual eminence. But he was a close friend of Mr. Tommy Corcoran and an intimate of other advanced New Deal thinkers. All of which makes it easy to argue that once on the Supreme Court the best thing is to stay there.

Downey Bill Expected To Bring Sharp Words
Civil Service Salary Bill Runs Into Snag
Boom Is Expected In Air Freight Business

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. Some very sharp words are due to appear back and forth between the Senate floor when the Downey bill for a blanket 20 percent boost for civil service workers, comes up.

The reason is less the pay issue than the strategy moves that took place in the civil service committee of which Senator Downey (D. of California) is chairman.

Economy backers, spearheaded by Senator Byrd (D. of Virginia) thought they saw a chance to put on some pressure to get government personnel pared down.

They figure that they had five votes on the 16-member committee—enough to block a favorable report. So their strategy was to ask to hear a long list of witnesses on how job-holder demoralization is making it difficult to get things done in general to let it be known that personnel reduction would be the way to get the pay raise out of committee.

Downey Move Surprises

Downey made a counter-move that took them by surprise. Senator McKellar (D. of Tennessee), Senate president, and Senator George (D. of Georgia) on whose votes the economy group counted, were absent.

Downey flashed the presence of Republican Senators Aiken, of Vermont, and Langer of North Dakota and voted approval of the bill—without trying to attach the congressional cabinet and judicial pay boosts and after brushing aside the witnesses.

Senators Byrd, Hickenlooper (R. of Iowa) and Hart (R. of Connecticut) refused to vote and thus he put on record against the raises.

Then Byrd and Hickenlooper issued stinging press statements accusing Downey of violating Senate custom.

America's multi-billion dollar aircraft program in World War II may not be a total waste after all.

Government officials publicly fear the worst—that most of the fighters and bombers will be junked—but the bulk of the picture has turned up recently.

U. S. Short on Bauxite

An RPS official said that plans are under way to salvage as much aluminum as possible from surplus aircraft.

This will be costly, but it may pay heavy dividends.

The United States is short on supplies of bauxite and aluminum, the basic ingredients of aluminum and hence of transportation or machinery of aluminum products.

With a captive eye on the desperate days of 1942 when the government appealed to housewives for all the chickens and turkeys they could find.

DISHONESTY IN WORDS

A fundamental in any discussion is agreement on definitions and the honest use of words. Probably no word has been so variously interpreted or so grossly abused in recent years as "isolation."

It is a favorite epithet of those who criticize the doctrine that the first duty of any nation is to its own people and of the lunatic red fringe which condemns opposition to servile toward self-seeking powers. To a dog-eared of the Wallace type and individual who ventures to suggest that we cannot afford to feed and clothe the whole world, an "isolationist."

To a Communist, anyone who questions an extreme doctrine made by the Soviets is an "isolationist."

Few men, either politically or personally, are seriously troubled with real isolationism. The human race is above all things gregarious. Men live on the biblical principle that "it is not good for man to be alone."

An individual cannot be a good citizen or a desirable neighbor on any basis of absolute isolation. He is forced to live with his fellow man in any community that men and women shall consider the good of the whole community, not only as a matter of decency, but as a matter of enlightened self-interest.

But the first duty of any citizen is to conserve his own health, keep himself solvent if possible, provide for his own household and keep his own yard clean. If he fails to do this, his is no asset to the community and unable to render any real service to anyone else, no matter how lofty his theories of brotherhood. In a word, he must be an "isolationist" to the point of maintaining his self-respect. Otherwise, he is of little account to himself, his family or his community.

The same standard applies to nations in this respect, as to individuals. A nation that does not conserve its own political and social health, that runs blindly into bankruptcy, that fails to take care of its own and keep its own skirts clean is not an asset but a liability to the community of nations. It is true of nations as of individuals that "he who provideth not for his own household is worse than an infidel."

Yet the great hue and cry about "isolation" is chiefly against the same, honest American who recognizes that these things are true. The wholly dishonest use of the word brands it a crime for a citizen of the United States to place the rights and interests of his own country first. The thing we expect of the citizen we are asked to denounce in the nation.

Ninety percent of the clamor against "isolationists" is not only hypocritical but deliberately fraudulent. It is time the American people were straightened out on their definitions.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I admire clever writing just as much as you do, but I was pretty much disgusted with a recent issue of a magazine of my own kind. I read a couple of days ago when I saw that despite elaborate efforts to make the war crime trials at Nuremberg a Hollywood-style show, it is not coming up to his advantage looking as a spectacle. It is impressive but boring.

I am not allowed to appear in print, but what in common kind of attitude is that to wait a spectacle maybe with a chorus and ballet, when the most shameful, the most disgusting, the foulest, the most degrading and the most heinous history is being unfolded before the eyes of the world?

What does it mean to make this most tragic and most heinous history a spectacle? It is a spectacle, but it is a spectacle of the world's most heinous and most shameful history. It is a spectacle of the world's most heinous and most shameful history. It is a spectacle of the world's most heinous and most shameful history.

It is the one ray of sunshine in a world gone mad that we give them a trial at all.

By all precedent, by all natural impulses, these murderers and misers and rapists should have been hanged on the nearest lamp-post when every lamp-post looked down upon evidence of their crimes.

Yet here we give them an opportunity to defend themselves. If there is even a scintilla of justification for the least evil thing they have done, they will secure the benefit of that justification.

Lacking in shameless? How can one expect shameless amid the rubble of destroyed cities, among the stench of burned bodies that is still hovering over all Europe?

What spectacle can one expect among the ruins except the sorry spectacle of human animals come and try to maintain the last vestige of that pitiful air of arrogance and that grand self-satisfaction which is the mark of a monster race?

No, not even from the perspective of a Hollywood production, it is a shameless spectacle of a race of monsters, led by Hitler, and abandoned by Hitler.

When the verdict has come in there will be no spectacle enough. When the last bullet of the firing squad or the last piece of rope has done its duty, then we will have seen the final curtain of a tragedy which even the greatest Hollywood producer could never have conceived.

Did I say the final act? Maybe I am a bit too optimistic.

But if this is the end of the day I hope I shall not live to see the curtain go up on the next act. Copyright, 1945, Eric Brandeis.

He Outweighs The Lady
Galloway will have one advantage over his bride. He outweighs her. He tips the scales at 35 pounds, she at only 52.

Galloway hopes the date will be December 21, but he is not sure how fast his bride-to-be can get to Austin from the Pacific Coast where she now lives with friends. Galloway, confined to International News Service, he met Miss Copeland three years ago when he was "out in Oklahoma" attending school, then at her work in a jewelry store. The courtship since then, and his proposal of marriage have been entirely by mail.

All of the participants except Miss Copeland are of average height, state employees. Galloway works as a messenger in the office of Secretary of State Claude B. Rusk. His roll-top desk is a child's play model and so is his swivel chair. He usually buys clothing for a nine-year-old boy, but his best business suit now is tailor-made and he'll have a tailored suit for the wedding.

Endocrine has helped thousands to recapture youthful look of face and throat

Eight years ago, eminent scientists gave the world ENDOCREME, a sensational contribution to the beauty of the feminine face and throat. Today, ENDOCREME is aiding thousands to regain the charm of a youthful skin to a degree hitherto thought impossible. This is done by helping to improve the skin itself, not merely its superficial appearance. ENDOCREME, you know, is the only face cream that contains ACTIVOL. This precious ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. When you apply ENDOCREME, it is absorbed by the skin and helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to recapture its youthful freshness, firmness, smoothness and allure. What bigger value can one get for her cosmetic dollars than this? You, too, should try ENDOCREME. Many report truly astonishing results in only 30 days.

GIVE HIGH PRODUCING COWS AMPLE MINERALS

Since milk contains minerals, high producing cows need plenty of minerals in their feed. Corn silage, corn fodder and grains are low in minerals, while legume hays contain larger amounts.

Cows which are fed large amounts of clover or alfalfa hay usually get enough minerals from this hay. Cows receiving rations low in legumes may need additional calcium and phosphorus. Salt is also necessary for all cattle.

Steamed bone meal and salt placed in separate boxes where the cows can eat them as they want will satisfy all ordinary mineral needs. If cows are kept in stalls constantly, one pound of salt and one pound of steamed bone meal should be added to each 100 pounds of grain.

could spare. RFC wants to retain as much aluminum from surplus planes as it can salvage.

Look for a tremendous boom in air freight business during the next few years, especially in service between smaller cities. Development of the helicopter also will add impetus to the program because almost any spot of clear ground can be used for landing. Experiments already have been underway flying perishable products from the west coast to midwestern and eastern cities. The movement is expected to change many of the nation's eating habits because fresh fish, fruits and vegetables can be flown to centers of population in a few hours.

When larger helicopters are perfected, they are expected to play an important role in moving valuable cargo between smaller cities. They also will be used to move passengers from large airports to the hearts of great cities.

Don't yell for joy too quickly over the end of food rationing. Your food bill will be higher before long. The reason: Termination of subsidies and the lifting of price ceilings. Government economists figure that these actions will cause increases ranging from 10 to 40 percent in the prices of some 37 basic food items within the next six months.

AMBRIDGE—Johnny Pastorino is a youth of vision and probably will go far. When writing to Santa Claus, he diplomatically inserted a plea for St. Nick not to forget his school teacher.

Neighborhood House Bi-Monthly Report

Much Activity During Past Two Months At Southside Institution Shown In Report

In a report submitted by Miss Christine Butler, superintendent of the Neighborhood House, Long avenue, to members of the institution's board meeting in session at the Y. M. C. A. recently, it is shown that much activity is carried on in the South Side building.

Miss Butler reported that there were 82 calls made to the various homes of the neighborhood with sewing classes conducted in the Neighborhood House where 50 girls were enrolled.

Other salient figures on the work of the organization include citizenship classes, evangelism classes, three former home classes uniting in mission with the Women's Bible class, visit from Miss W. W. Campbell, state chairman of Junior Citizens under the D. A. R., and Miss Katherine Foulke, county superintendent.

A Junior Citizens club will be organized at the Neighborhood House with all boys and girls who want to learn to be good American citizens eligible to join.

Plans are under way for the Christmas parties of the various classes of the institution and a program for the whole Sunday school.

Pupils in the Sunday school have almost completed the work of learning the Bible verses in the study "Convoy of Life," a flannel-graph demonstration. Prizes were given to perfect attendants of the Sunday school.

Other facts on the work are: 20 boys and girls have professed conversion; two Bibles given; one Gideon testament has been given to a service man; an electric clock given to Neighborhood House by Jay Allsworth.

On the social side of the work, Miss Jean Butler is in charge of the boys' club. Olive Lewis entertained her boys at the House; magazine and Miss Mary Mossman; quilt patches received from Mrs. Frank Shier, Miss Elizabeth Wallace and Miss Martha Matthews of Central Presbyterian church; cotton was received for sewing classes from a group of Second U. P. women through Mrs. Harold Ramsey.

Send Supply Of Sedatives To Gen. Geo. Patton

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—A 25-day supply of sedatives was placed aboard an Army plane Wednesday in New York to be flown to ease the suffering of Gen. George S. Patton, stricken in Germany with paralysis.

Announcement that the drug was being rushed to Heidelberg, was made by Dr. Theodore G. Klump, president of the Winthrop Chemical company of Rensselaer, N. Y., who disclosed that it was requested by the Army Procurement office in New York.

The shipment consisted of five boxes of five ampules each and constitutes about a 25-day supply. It was supplied by the company in large quantities to the armed forces during the war.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

bones, or so he must feel. Yet this practice of excessive adverse criticism often dignified with the term "evaluation" is not only a common practice but also has been set forth in textbooks and lectures for teachers as ideal procedure.

Emphasis on Mistakes How can overabundance of emphasis on mistakes promote good learning, not to mention good atmosphere for moral growth? After such adverse criticism, who among the class would profit from the correct items in the "recitation" or book report or feel inspired to read the book on which the report was based?

Nevertheless, there are some calm, comfortable classrooms in which children learn to keep their hands down, sit still and listen while a classmate speaks and takes his own good time in doing so, where a kind of homey fireside atmosphere prevails, where each child enjoys the contributions and successes of his fellows. Also, there are classrooms where relatively little time is spent at having children dwell on the errors of their classmates but where, indeed, the atmosphere is so comfortable that relatively few mistakes are made. In such classrooms, each child's strengths and not his weaknesses are magnified.

I'm aware, of course, of how hard it is for the teacher to provide a desirable moral and emotional atmosphere for the child as he speaks in class. She feels the time is going and there is so much to be done. Besides, she wishes to encourage her pupils to volunteer. Yet, if she will think this matter through, she will see how desirable it is that every child shall learn to be restrained as to be a help rather than a hindrance to his fellow pupils.

School Aid Bill Defeated Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The House Education committee on Wednesday killed a bill to provide Federal aid for schools.

By a vote of 10 to 9 the committee tabled the measure, embodying proposals which have been before Congress for years and on which extensive hearings have been held.

The measure originally provided for Federal grants to states of 300 million dollars annually, but was whittled down last week in committee to a 150 millions for two years.

The purpose of the grant would be to help "equalize" public school opportunities in the various states.

WITNESS MISSING
Due to the absence of Donald E. Malone, a key witness in the case of the commonwealth against Oliver Peim on Wednesday, the case was continued until this morning.
Mr. Peim is charged with receiving stolen goods, the incident being one in which he is alleged to have purchased some automobile tires stolen some months ago.
One witness for the commonwealth, Norman Wilson, said that Mr. Peim had offered him $50 if he would change his story. This, James W. Walter, Bureau wants to have explained further.
When the commonwealth attempted to get into the testimony that the tires had been stolen, defense counsel objected on the grounds that no one had testified they had been stolen. The only one who could testify would be the man who stole them, Donald E. Malone, now sitting in a cell in Court Hill. It was agreed the commonwealth would produce him by Thursday morning and the case was continued that long.

Annunciation to Mary

"He loved us, and sent His Son"—I John 4:10

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 16 is Isaiah 9:2-7; Luke 1:26-38; Heb. 1:1-4; I Peter 3:13-18; 22; June 21, 25, the Memory Verse being I John 4:10. "He loved us, and sent His son.")

The first part of our lesson is concerned with the prophecy of Isaiah about the coming of the Messiah. We will have room only for a brief mention of it. Everything in the kingdom of Israel was in ruin. There was no king worthy of the name on the throne, and it was felt that a king must come, that God would take pity on His people and give them a real ruler.

Isaiah's prophecy must have brought his people comfort. For unto us a child is born unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon His shoulder. And His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

"Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom. . . . to order it and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of Hosts will perform this."

Shopping Hangover

Shopping is hard work at best—hard on the feet and hard on the pocketbook. Stores are crowded with holiday buyers, goods are still scarce, and bargains aren't always easy to find.

Except electricity! Lady, you don't have to stir one step outside your home to get a whopping big bargain in comfort and convenience—at low pre-war prices.

Electric service is always right at your fingertip—plentiful, dependable, ready 24 hours a day to lighten your household burdens and make your way of living more pleasant.

And it's cheap! As a matter of fact, the average family is getting just about twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago.

Yes, electric service is a rare household bargain. But not by accident. It's the result of the hard work and experience of the men and women in your company.

DON'T LET SOAP SHORTAGES GET WORSE You can help!

Keep saving used fats to help prevent further cuts in your soap supply

As long as our country's supply of industrial fats is so low, the government must determine how much fat can be released to make soap and other peacetime goods.

Any let-down in your saving of used kitchen fats will make our fat supply even less—and the amount allowed for soap manufacture may have to be cut accordingly. The end of rationing of food fats doesn't change the picture. Industrial fats are still very short. So keep turning in your used fats, won't you?—and speed the return of more soaps to your dealer's shelves.

Potteries Feel Atomic Pinch

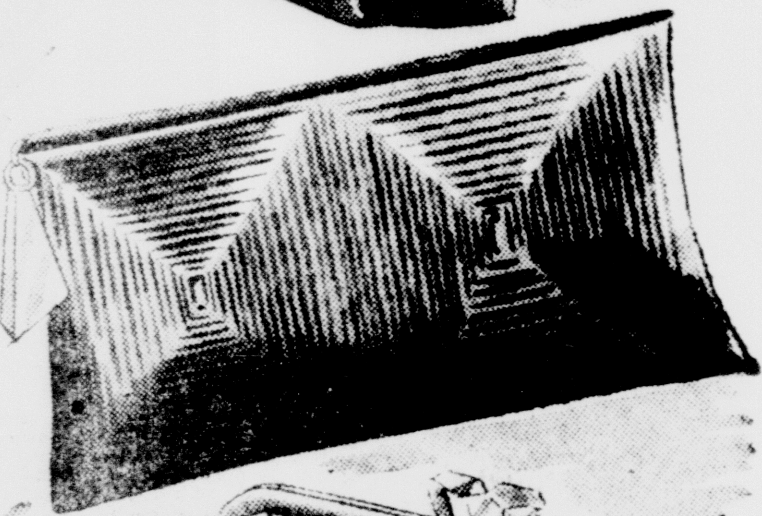

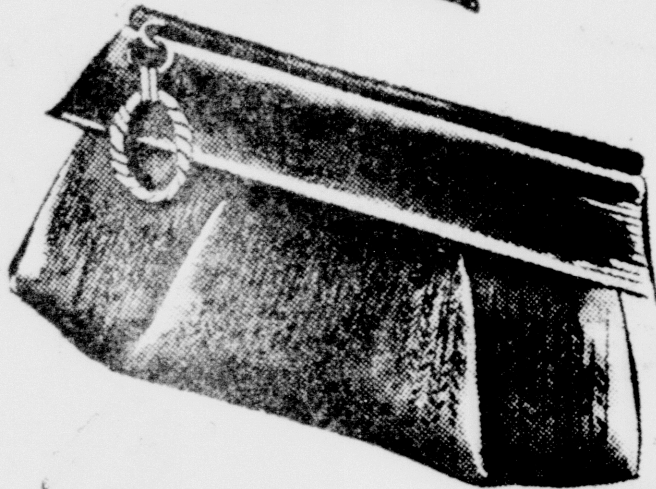

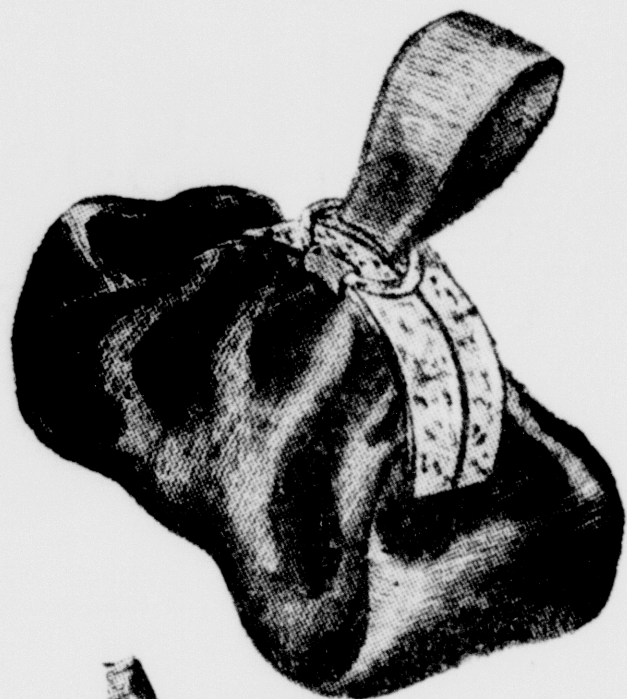

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13. (INS)—Development of the atomic bomb has been felt in the clamorous and pottery industry. It was disclosed Wednesday at the convention of the United States Pottery Association in Pittsburgh.

J. W. Heppelwhite, of Newell, W. Va., said the Manhattan Engineering project has shut off the industry's supply of uranium oxide, an element of the atomic bomb, and researchers have been hard pressed to find a substitute for the yellow and deep reds that predominate in designs.

Mystery Deepens In Cline Case

Find Over $200,000 In Cash And Securities In Bank Safety Box At Columbus, O.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Delora Krebs Cline, wife of 53-year-old ex-convict Alfred L. Cline, deepened today with the finding of more than $200,000 in cash and securities in a safe deposit box in Cline's name at Columbus. Cline is now held by San Francisco authorities in connection with a forgery charge. Included in the box at the Huntington National Bank were $165,000 in stocks under joint title of Mr. and Mrs. Cline, to which it had been transferred on July 28, 1944 shortly after their marriage.

Present at the examination were Frank H. Ward of Columbus, attorney for the estate of Mrs. Krebs, and representatives of the bank, common pleas court and inheritance tax authorities. Another attorney for the estate, Gerald Ryan of Chicago, requested the investigation of Cline in San Francisco in connection with an alleged forgery of a $10,000 security from the estate.

LINK ANOTHER CASE TO CLINE

Man Is Held In San Francisco On Suspicion Of Forgery And Multiple Murders

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Alfred Leonard Cline, who evaded a sentence for multiple murders, was linked today to the ashes of another beneficiary.

This death, which authorities charge is the tenth on the "Palmer" transcontinental trail of buttermilk and bequests, reportedly was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis, Oakland Cal. widow.

Cline, one-time choir singer and a time convict, is held in San Francisco on suspicion of forgery and for investigation in what District Attorney Edmund C. Brown described as "multiple murder."

Latest link in a chain of transactions was welded in Jacksonville, Fla., where the manager and other employees of the Windsor hotel identified a photograph of the 55-year-old ex-convict.

Cline was named as the man who registered as "F. L. Klein and wife" on Oct. 22, 1943. The "wife" was described as sick on arrival. She died in the hotel Nov. 8. Mortuary attendants, where the woman was cremated as "Elizabeth Hamman Klein" picked out Cline's picture as the "F. L. Klein" who ordered and paid for cremation.

In San Francisco, District Attorney Brown expressed belief that "Elizabeth Hamman Klein" was in reality the Oakland widow, Mrs. Lewis, with whom Cline left the east bay city in September, 1943.

Bill Provides

Wage Increase

When council met today in city hall a bill was introduced which when adopted will provide a 40 cents daily wage increase for city hourly workers and approximately $12.00 a month for salaried employees. This was the amount of the increase council determined upon when the 1946 appropriations were tentatively compiled and which now are on display in the city clerk's office.

The driver was Corp. Robert L. Thompson of Camden, N. J.

Discovery In Bush Country Changed Treatment Of Polio

Sister Kenny demonstrating her revolutionary treatment which requires no splints or casts. Sister Kenny restores seemingly paralyzed limbs to normal functions by means of hot applications and exercise.

Since the opening of the Sister Kenny Polio fund drive in Lawrence county, many persons have been wondering about the techniques of the Kenny treatment, how it was developed, and what sort of woman developed it.

Elizabeth Kenny, who was an Australian army nurse during the first World War, developed her method of treatment while serving as a community nurse in an isolated district of Australia's bush country. Called to a miner's cabin to care for a sick child, she discovered that the boy had infantile paralysis, and that five more children in the same community also were stricken.

She found Treatment. Told that there was no known cure for the disease, Sister Kenny tried to treat the cases as best she could. She had acquired a remarkable knowledge of anatomy and muscle function, and now discovered that while some muscles seemed to be paralyzed, their opposing muscles were in spasm and were very painful. Until this time, amputations had never been considered, or even known, in the treatment of infantile paralysis.

After experimenting with various kinds of heat, she finally hit upon hot fomentations and found that these brought almost instant relief from pain, and, within several days, caused relaxation of affected muscles and disappearance of the spasms.

And Six Recovered. And with spasm and the pain gone, Sister Kenny discovered that the apparently paralyzed muscles were not actually paralyzed, but had lost their coordination and ability to function normally and needed to be retrained. Within two months the six children were reported as restored to robust normal health. No deformities occurred.

This treatment is that which is given and taught at the Sister Kenny foundation in Minneapolis, which is supported by the campaign to which local citizens are being asked to contribute. Plans for the treatment can be found throughout the city in many restaurants, taverns and stores. The local campaign is being sponsored by the Welfare and Community Service Department of Woman's Club.

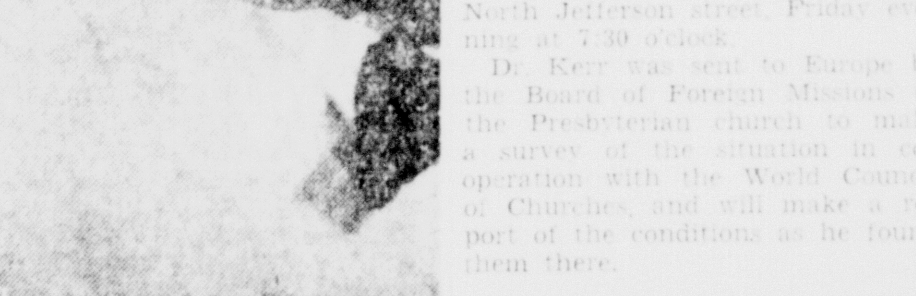

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Old Bill was just a common grinder who never spent or gave away any of his earnings, but relatives who claimed his body were "thunder-gasted" today by the amount he had saved.

So far, $83,000 has been accounted for in the fortune piled up over 50 years by the 77-year-old eccentric, Fred Goldsmith. The bulk of the fortune is expected to be found when relatives open a safety deposit box in a Pittsburgh bank.

In his will dated in 1929, Goldsmith left most of his estate to relatives, but a nephew, Burton A. Goldsmith, said that almost all amounts were bequeathed the Salvation Army, the Jewish home for babies, and the home for crippled children.

Unless another is found, the will now in the executor's hands will stand.

Goldsmith, whose wife died 35 years ago, amassed his fortune by sharpening and trading scissors and razors.

Kiwanians Hear Joseph Hartman On Basketball

Former Star Athlete Here And Later Coach At Grove City And
Franklin Tells About Game

New Castle Kiwanis club members heard an interesting talk on the game of basketball at their meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday noon, when Joseph A. Hartman, principal of the Highland and Arthur M. Gill schools, talked about the fine points of the leading winter indoor sport.

Mr. Hartman, who starred in all branches of sport at New Castle High school, and later coached at Grove City and Franklin High schools, told of the invention of the game by Dr. James Naismith in 1891, while teaching at a Y. M. C. A. college, and of how the game rapidly spread in favor, being taken up by schools and colleges from the Y. M. C. A.

He explained the principles of the game, the things which go to make a good player, types of defense, etc., all of which proved most interesting.

Edward T. Hobbey, who has just returned from service with the Fifth Air Force in the India-Burma and Pacific Theaters, was a special guest of the club. Yeoman Kenneth McGraw, who is home on leave from service in the navy was also a guest of the club.

Yule Mail Can Be Sent To APO 729 Postmaster States

Relatives Of Soldiers Served By This APO In Aleutians Notified Of Action

Because the bulk of the Christmas mail going to men served through APO 729, which was sent out during the unrestricted mailing period between September 15 and October 15, was lost at sea during a storm, persons who mailed Christmas packages to men served by this address are to one address to replace the boxes lost. Postmaster William R. Hanna has been advised by the Post Office department.

The mail was being towed on a barge to the men in the Aleutian area and was lost during a violent storm.

This will be accepted without the usual request, if presented on or before December 20.

Tells Britain U. S. Loan Will Be Necessary

LONDON, Dec. 13—(INS)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton told the House of Commons today that Britain would have to accept a projected four billion four hundred million dollar loan from the United States.

He said British national economy had been violently twisted out of shape for the sake of the common war effort and deliberately worsened by lend-lease.

"This great load of debt we bring out of the war is a strange reward for all we in this land suffered in behalf of the common cause," he said bitterly.

Dalton moved passage of the loan on behalf of the labor government.

To Study State's Contribution To Nation's Food Pile

Farm Leaders Meet In Altoona To Estimate 1946 Production In State

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS).—Two hundred Pennsylvania farm leaders meeting at Altoona with officials of the agricultural adjustment agency were preparing to estimate the state's contribution in 1946 to the nation's larder.
 "We want your opinion," Director Clyde A. Zehner of Harrisburg told the farmers, "not only on how much you think Pennsylvania farmers can and should produce in 1946 but what should be done by the government in line with price support commitments."
 He pointed out that current legislation assured farmers 90 per cent of parity on basic commodities or foods named in the Steagall act.
 Federal food officials, he disclosed, have recommended nationwide reductions in certain lines of production such as 15 per cent for eggs and 17 per cent for chickens.
 Commodity committees were named to meet December 20 to formulate recommendations for 1946 production goals.
 During the opening session yesterday, Dr. Marion McKay of the University of Pittsburgh, told farmers that there was a critical need for food.
 "The clamor call around the world is for food, not only for our friends but for our enemies," he declared. "Farmers' decision now will affect people in all walks of life."

Russian Molests Lancaster Woman, Draws $10 Penalty

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS).—Russo-American relations were strained today in Lancaster.
 Leon Nikolavich Airapetov, 40, a member of the Soviet Union's purchasing commission, pleaded guilty and paid a $10 fine in Lancaster county court for molesting a woman in a theatre.
 Airapetov said he had not attempted to molest the woman but was trying to recover a dictionary which he had dropped. The plaintiff was not identified.
 Airapetov was assigned to negotiate for the purchase of surplus material at the army quartermaster depot at Marietta near Lancaster.

Plan Compensation For Earning Slumps

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—(INS).—The department of labor and industry pointed out today that Pennsylvania workers will be eligible for partial unemployment compensation benefits after January 11 if reduced earnings were "due to a lack of work."
 Secretary William H. Chesnut explained that under amendments to the unemployment compensation law workers were eligible for the partial benefits if they were "under-employed rather than unemployed."
 "There are, generally, three conditions which enter into this definition of partial employment," Chesnut said.
 "First, the worker must be employed less than full-time," he explained. "Second, his reduced hours must be due to lack of work, but the employee must be available for full-time hours if such work is offered by an employer. Third, he must have earned, during the week for which partial benefits are claimed, less than his weekly benefit rate for total unemployment."

Resignations Of Three City School Teachers Accepted

Others Matters Coming Before
Session Of School Board On Wednesday Night

Three resignations were accepted by the New Castle school board Wednesday night, December 13, at the East street building when the board held its regular monthly session. All nine members were present.

The resignations were those of Beatrice C. Cooper, teacher at Highland avenue, who is moving from the state; Catherine A. Hubbard, teacher at McGill school, health room; and Virginia Roberts, secretary at George Washington junior high school, who has been married recently. All three resignations were accepted. Two teachers were reported as having returned from military leave and will be reassigned in the system. The two are Alan A. Plant and Betty L. Brown.

Report On Injury

Superintendent Frank L. Burton reported on the condition of Haliback Dick Bettes, Butler player who was injured in the eye when a BB pellet hit him in the eye at the New Castle-Butler game. Dr. Burton said the boy was back in school, was in good spirits but had very little if any vision from the injured eye. The doctor in charge would make no statement as to the possibilities of the sight being restored.

Dr. Burton told the board the absence from school due to the epidemic of grip had been large. On Wednesday, December 12, the total absence were 207, or about 26 per cent of the enrollment.

Will Not Be Candidate

Dr. A. A. Newmark, school health director, notified the board he would not be an applicant for the position for the term commencing in September 1946.

A mimeograph machine at a cost of $425 was ordered purchased from the Castle Stationery.

Bids will be asked for the removal and disposition of five houses on Newell avenue which the board has bought to make room for a playground for the Mahoning school.

Dr. A. L. Hoffmaster, a member of the board, was named by President Leslie Brindle to serve as the board's representative upon the directorate of the Greater New Castle Association.

To Name Successor For State Chairman David L. Lawrence

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Top-ranking Pennsylvania Democrats will meet at Harrisburg tomorrow to select a successor for State Committee Chairman David L. Lawrence, mayor-elect of Pittsburgh.

Party chieftains including U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey will meet at headquarters to agree on a successor for Lawrence, whose resignation will be tendered at a meeting of the state committee five days later.

One leading official said the top contenders for the office were Sen. Joseph M. Barr of Allegheny, and former Sen. John S. Rice of Adams.

Others mentioned for the post included County Commissioners John J. Kane of Allegheny, and Michael P. Lawler of Lackawanna.

Sen. Edward J. Coleman of Lackawanna, and Meredith Meyers, Lewistown publisher and former state chairman.

Lawrence, secretary of the commonwealth during the Earle administration, was state chairman from 1935 to 1939. He returned to party leadership three years ago after a two-year interim when Meyers headed the committee.

Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Gives Quick Relief
Saves You Big Dollars. And It's So Easy! No Cooking.

Here's an old home mixture your parents probably used. But, once tried, you'll always use it, because it gives such quick, pleasing relief for coughs due to colds.

And it's so easily mixed. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use each syrup or liquid honey, if desired.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex (on hand in any drug store) into a money refunded if it doesn't please you. Put it in every way.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

SICKNESS OF THE MIND

It is usually much easier to take care of a person who has sickness of the body than one who has sickness of the mind.

Mental disease patients need sympathetic care just the same as those who have physical disease.

Usually at first before the disease is detected, the patients are considered mean or unreasonable. Later it is found that they are really sick and need careful treatment.

It is not disgraceful to have a disease of the mind. It is a calamity.

We are slowly learning how to care for sick minds. They get much better care than they formerly did. If we were considerate enough to detect these conditions early, the problem might be easier.

President Urges Battle Against Juvenile Crimes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 13.—President Truman called upon the police chiefs of the nation to face "an alarming problem"—that of juvenile delinquency, and said he would fight this menace with a program aimed at its causes.

The president commended the police chiefs for their wartime work but declared that as guardians of peace, they faced "grave problems."

"Americans cannot afford to observe this problem passively," Mr. Truman added.

LET REFUGEES STAY

AMSTERDAM.—(INS)—German refugees long resident in Holland before the outbreak of the war are to be allowed to remain and enjoy the protection they received in the past, ruled the Netherlands Military Administration, liaison agency between the Dutch and Allied governments.

Dutch-resident Germans deported to Germany in the occupation have to pass security screening before re-admittance is allowed.

Union Grade School Is Rehearsing For Christmas Operetta

Grade school pupils of Union consolidated school will present the operetta "The Magi's Gift," Thursday evening, Dec. 20, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The scene of the performance is medieval England, and the music includes carols of many of the European countries. In addition to the grade schoolers, the high school mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Betty Robison will sing between the acts.

CRITICAL PROBLEM
LONDON.—(INS)—Housing is London's most critical post-war problem. During the blitz and fly-bomb days, tens of thousands retreated to the countryside, their homes totally destroyed or so badly damaged that they were unfit to live in. Now they are pouring back, unimpaired of uncertain accommodation, and bringing with them further problems for an already overcrowded metropolis.

The first Michigan state fish hatchery was built in 1873.

Couple On Probation After Death Of Child

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Packler, of Mt. Joy, were under one year's probation today after a Lancaster county jury convicted them of involuntary manslaughter in the malnutrition-powwow death of a 10-month-old daughter.

The jury deliberated only 70 minutes at Lancaster before it returned its verdict. Judge Joseph Wissler also fined the couple $50 and costs.

County Detective Jacob Weller said the child died September 25 of a lack of medical attention and proper care.

During a preliminary arraigning hearing, Mrs. Packler said she had attempted to cure the child with "powwow" rites but testified in court that she had been "confused" when she made the statement.

NORRISTOWN.—Carl Bates talked himself back into prison after appearing in court slightly under the weather. He was in arrears on a weekly support order and he told the judge that he had returned to court "to take the rap."

Of the 300 kinds of crude drugs, such as roots, herbs, leaves, etc., 275 are found in North Carolina.

Claim Pigeon-Holing Costs State Millions

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania State Education Association estimated today that the commonwealth would have received $11,000,000 for educational purposes under a proposal pigeon-holed by a congressional committee at Washington.

Harvey E. Gayman, executive director, said that under one version of the measure the state would have received the funds for "support" of the regular public school program while another formula would have appropriated money for teachers salaries and the operation of educational institutions.

The measure originally provided for federal grants totaling $300,000,000 annually and was passed last week in committee by $130,000,000 for 190 years.

START SEPARATOR OUTPUT

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Production of rubber battery separators for automobiles, civilian aircraft and industrial storage batteries is being resumed for the first time since Pearl Harbor, the United States Rubber Company announces. The present output of 150,000 a day will be increased as soon as more rubber and manpower become available.

Indiantown Gap Closing Scoffed

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Dec. 13.—INS—The public relations office at the Indiantown Gap military reservation today disclaimed any knowledge of alleged plans to close Pennsylvania's separation center. "We have never heard any such rumor," a spokesman stated. "I don't see how we could close, because we've been working 10 hours a day processing as many as 1200 soldiers more per day than we're geared for."

"Right now we're worrying about getting additional personnel to help carry the load," he stated.

The official added that it was possible some "separation points" at various hospitals might close, but declared the only "separation center" in the state was located at Indiantown.

Margaret Henry Home Plans Holiday Events

Present and Christmas plans have a monopoly on the thinking of the children of the Margaret Henry children's home, as on the thinking of most of the children in the right now.

Many pre-Christmas plans will lead up to the double climax of the Christmas Eve program and the Christmas dinner. One the evening of December 21, the children will sing carols in a downtown store, and on Sunday evening they will attend Christmas services at the Maitland Methodist church.

On Christmas Eve, the playroom at the home will not only be decorated with a tree, but also with the entrance to "the little red schoolhouse." This little school house will be used for an entertainment which the children will give for friends and families, under the supervision of Mrs. Lida Green, matron of the home.

Chinese Study Our Farm Methods

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 13.—After a few weeks "down on the farm" in Nebraska, Chi-Shen Shih, one of 17 farm leaders in this country, said that agriculture education methods and extension work developed in the United States may help China build up a scientific system of agriculture.

After his stay with a farm family in Nebraska, the Oriental expert will spend some time with an extension agent and finish his study at the University of Nebraska experiment station.

The minister plans a program of education in agriculture to improve the present methods employed and to raise the standard of farm living in China.

10% more than wartime take-home pay refused by UAW-CIO

Before GM workers were called out on strike, the UAW-CIO refused an offer aimed to increase wartime take-home pay by at least 10%.

Read the background and ask yourself, does this make sense?

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE FACTS:

1. During the last year of the war, the average General Motors hourly-rate worker earned $56.93 per week.

This is based on actual records of the money paid and the number of people working. To earn this money they worked an average of 45.6 hours per week.

2. The public demand for GM products and services is enough to keep our plants working at the wartime level of 45 to 48 hours weekly.

During the period of shortages, we plan to operate at this rate, barring work stoppages due to causes beyond our control. In fact, some of our plants were working 48 hours a week when the strike was called. The number of people employed when reconversion is completed and our new plants and facilities are in production, will be larger than before the war.

3. General Motors offered to adjust wage rates in line with the cost of living.

Since January 1941, General Motors' wage rates have increased substantially. Before the strike was called, the union was offered a cost-of-living wage adjustment in line with the Government's stabilization policy. The union rejected this offer and called the strike. This offer has finally been determined to amount to an average of 15½ cents per hour.

4. The UAW-CIO turned down a proposal which would have given the average GM worker $63.44 a week.

Under this offer, the average General Motors hourly-rate worker would have received $63.44 for the same number of hours for which he was paid $56.93 during the war. This is at least 33% more than he would have received in January 1941 if he had worked the same number of hours then. The union rejected the offer. The strike continues. The workers are getting nothing.

5. What does the UAW-CIO want?

Government figures say that the cost of living has gone up 33% since January 1, 1941. As already pointed out, General Motors has offered this much to its workers. But the union insists it wants 30% more than present rates, which are already substantially higher than 1941 rates. Its battle cry is "52 for 40 or fight"—52 hours' pay for 40 hours' work.

It refuses to budge from that demand.

IN THE OPEN

I splashed through the shallow slough where the woods brook meanders, across the flat to merge with the waters of the pond. Somewhere up stream, near the swale where the skunk cabbage grows, a gray squirrel had long before warned his neighbors of my approach. From some lofty perch he had spied me, and began advising all and sundry, in his peculiar whining snarl, that old Neb-Nose was back in the woods again. I tried for a glimpse of him but he was too smart for me, although he probably watched every move I made.

Clambering out of the brook defile, I stepped over an abandoned wire fence and came into a clean stand of beech. The gaunt trees, clad in well fitting garments of an eternal Quaker meeting. Here and there a broken snag testified to the memory of a patriarch who had served his time and gone to his reward. I stood in silent communion with these fellows for a moment, then noisily broke the spell and moved on.

The outdoorsman never overlooks the opportunities presented by dead snags in the winter wood. Usually a woodpecker has practiced house building in these "softies," and interesting house guests sometimes move in for the winter. With my hiking stick I rapped smartly at the base of a snag or two which contained dens drilled by the birds. Nothing happened. Finally I tried once more, as I was nearing the edge of the beech grove.

Wood Mouse Surprised

This last snag was perhaps 18 feet tall, with a woodpecker's cavity drilled in about two feet from the top. The snag stood at the head of a small ravine, an ideal nesting site, which led me to believe the woodpecker had cut out this aperture had not been practicing, but was really under contract. I gave the base a resounding wallop and out popped a very surprised wood mouse, who scampered to a hiding place in the broken top of the tall stump.

By maneuvering a bit I finally got a good look at this little fellow. He is perhaps better known as the white footed mouse, and is also called the deer mouse. He moves about mostly at night, and is rarely unless flushed from his warm winter nest, as I had so rudely done. His under fur is white, and the whitest ermine, and his jet beads of eyes add a roguishness to his appearance which is abetted by his oversize ears.

Mr. White foot said have a word but kept himself aloof on his tail snag. After I moved on in search of other adventures he probably went back to sleep in his pent-house apartment. The path led along the edge of a low cliff and then approached the pasture field, bordering the wooded area. From one of the trees edging the timberland a large hawk, probably the broad-winged hawk, flamed slowly into the air and then hunted low across the sky. He apparently had not seen me, for he was in no hurry, and bent on field mouse for lunch. The hunting was poor and he flew out of sight over the far hills without making a kill.

I made my way down to the bottomland and the head of the pond. In this area there is a stand of rather coarse-looking sensitive fern which carries its spores in little berry-like cases, much sought after as prime material for "winter bouquets." After some searching I located the brown and withered leaves of the colony, and gathered a few stalks of the bouquet material. Why this fern is called sensitive I do not know, although it is an early victim of the first frosts.

Can Spring Be Far Behind?

Each year as winter approaches I am forcibly reminded of the poet singing "If Winter comes can Spring be far behind?" In my garden plots the tangle, bull thistle, chokes and mustard have established firm crowns of new growth from which the fruiting stalks will spring at the first hint of the next growing season. Along the old-field trails giant mullein, the perennial daisies, and many others are campaigning similarly, caught in the never ending saga of time and change of which the poet sang.

If fat buds mean full blooms we are in for a riot of blues next May. These favorite dooryard shrubs have never looked in finer fettle. I note that the buds on our young cherry trees also look as though they mean business, while dogwood and sphen-bush of the open woodlands are surely fattened up for the cold months of waiting. I noticed mandarin in blossom while cleaning up the yard on December 8 and will find chickweed blooming in sunny spots all during the winter. There's another gang about the country place who believe that spring's not too far behind. I find them holed up in some peculiar places. As I knocked down a paper wasp nest which had been over-looked while cleaning the house eaves during the summer, I noted a flash of red at one of the cell openings. Examination disclosed a lady bird beetle moved into this snug paper apartment. I looked further, and discovered no less than six comatose spiders occupying other quarters in the same apartment, with all alarm clocks set for half-past April.

Nazi Defendants Given Premature Jolt At Nuernberg

Shriveled Head Of Concentration
Camp Victim Is Brought Into Court Room

NUERNBERG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The Nazi war crimes defendants on trial at Nuernberg received an unexpected — and premature — jolt today when a court attendant brought in the shriveled head of a concentration camp victim.

But it was a mistake. The attendant was ordered to remove the head, which will be introduced later in the trial.

Hermann Goering, who spotted the grim evidence, nudged defendant Rudolf Hess as it was brought in. Both seemed relieved when the attendant carried it out.

With the opening of the concentration camp phase of the Nuernberg trial, which is expected to produce some of the goriest moments of the trial, the prosecution has amassed a pile of evidence.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The troopship Joseph Hooker, bringing 526 troops of the 141st Field Artillery home from Marseille, which late yesterday sent out an SOS 270 miles east-southeast of the Nantuxet lightship, was steaming toward New York slowly today under her own power.

After radioing in her first message that her hull was damaged and her No. 3 hold flooded, the hooker later said she was proceeding at six knots. Meanwhile, the navy transport Lejeune, which left New York yesterday for Bremerhaven with 4,400 soldier replacements, stood by the stricken vessel along with the S. S. William Patterson, and S. S. Examiner.

Soldier Among Robbery Trio

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Three allied highwaymen, including a soldier, were slated to appear before a Harrisburg alderman today to answer six charges each of robbery.

The trio was arrested by police in connection with robbing five persons in three holdups early Saturday. A fourth arrest was expected, according to police.

Taken into custody and held without bail were Pvt. Richard L. Warner of Steelton, Raymond E. Marks and Edwin Kopenhagen, both of Harrisburg.

New Castle Man Is Absolved From Blame In Death

CLARION, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Anthony Richie, of New Castle, today was absolved of blame in the death of Herbert Shilling, 60, Emmenton, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday.

Shilling had been living on the highway and Richie's car passed over him, police reported. Richie told police he did not see the man and felt the wheels of his car run over something. He stopped to investigate and discovered Shilling.

Underwater Navy Possible, Claims Atomic Scientist

Chicago Physicist Tells Senate Committee Of Miracles Of Future

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—An atomic scientist predicted today that the Navy of the future—"if any"—will travel 1,000 feet under the surface of the sea.

Dr. Alvin M. Weinberg, former University of Chicago physicist and member of the Oak Ridge laboratory staff, told the Senate atomic committee that atomic fire, burning without oxygen, provides the ideal fuel for underwater craft.

"The navy of the future, if there is any such thing, will consist of submarines which will travel a thousand feet under the ocean," Weinberg predicted.

Safety Under The Sea
"The safest place on this tortured planet, should an atomic war break out, will be deep below the surface of the ocean," he declared.

At the same time, the supposedly fantastic idea of space travel "must now be considered more seriously," Weinberg said.

"But progress will be made only when the rocket experts are allowed to speak freely with the atomic power experts," Weinberg said.

He pressed the complaint that he and two other scientists made today against the Army policy of restricting free discussion among scientists of their discoveries.

Fuel For Arctic Regions

Weinberg foresaw also great medical and chemical use of nuclear radiation and a means of providing fuel for power developments where they are needed in the Arctic regions.

A pound of fissionable material gives as much power as several million pounds of ordinary fuels, he said.

The material could provide large-scale radiation treatment in medicine—much larger than now is possible in the largest hospital X-ray units, the former Chicago scientist said.

In chemistry, high-intensity radiation may bring surprising new synthetics, he said, just as plants synthesize sugar out of carbon dioxide and water under the influence of sub-light.

Saturday Tag Day For Mission Christmas Event

You will be coming down town or to the other business districts of the city on Saturday. This is just a reminder to you to have some loose money in your purse and also a suggestion that you loosen up with a little of it.

Rev. D. R. Wert, superintendent of the City Rescue Mission, has arranged for a Tag Day from which proceeds will come the money to provide a Christmas dinner and party for the needy of the city. It isn't going to take a trunk full of money to do the job right, but it is going to take some. That some, Rev. Wert and all friends of the Mission hope will be coming from you and the rest of the citizenry.

There is no heavy overhead cost to deduct from the gross receipts, no promotional charges nor fees for high pressure lads. With the exception of a few minor expenses the money will all show up in the form of food and gifts for folks not as fortunate as you.

Young ladies will be in the streets Saturday with money containers. Don't keep your hands in your pockets when you pass them by. Remember that a little from a lot will make the lot of some folks in our city a little happier on Christmas Day.

Give out, folks, on Saturday and do it with a smile.
